Developer Professional

Version : DEMO

1.Which of the following is a key consideration when defining a schema in Adobe Campaign Classic?

- A. Font size
- B. Primary keys
- C. Email provider
- D. Browser compatibility

Answer: B

Explanation:

Defining schema details like primary keys, auto primary keys, and database indexes is a fundamental part of system configuration.

2.True/False: Form Renderings are primarily used for creating custom reports.

- A. TRUE
- B. FALSE

Answer: B

Explanation:

Form Renderings are used to customize the display of forms in the Adobe Campaign console, not for creating reports.

3.Which of the following are system-wide configuration settings that can affect the workspace/project level? (Select two)

- A. User's last name
- B. External accounts
- C. Typology rules
- D. Campaign templates

Answer: B, C

Explanation:

External accounts and typology rules are configured at a system-wide level and have a direct impact on how projects and workspaces function.

4.When configuring an SFTP external account, which of the following is a required setting?

- A. The brand logo
- B. The server address
- C. The user's preferred language
- D. The number of campaigns to be run

Answer: B

Explanation:

The server address is a critical piece of information needed to establish a connection to the SFTP server.

5.True/False: A "Closed" enumeration allows users to freely add new values from the input fields.

- A. TRUE
- B. FALSE

Answer: B

Explanation:

A "Closed" enumeration has a fixed list of values that can only be modified from the Enumerations menu, whereas an "Open" enumeration allows adding new values.
